NOT DRUNK BUT ILL.

Receiving Physicians Accused of Treating a Patient Brutally.

George W. Deacon's Death May Have Been Due to Their Neglect.

He Could Not Secure Admission to Chambers Street or Bellevue Hospital.

George W. Deacon, an Englishman, thirty-nine years old, who has lived in the United States for twenty years, died in Bellevue Hospital yesterday morning under circumstances which seem to call for an investigation.

Ten days ago Deacon was taken sick. His landlady, Miss Lyle, of Madison street, on the Saturday following called in Dr. Samuel Brothers, whose office is on the first floor of the same house. Dr. Brothers diagnosed Deacon's ailment as grip and bronchitis, and recommended that the patient report at once at Bellevue Hospital.

Deacon got out at Bellevue Hospital early last Sunday afternoon. He returned at nightfall and told his landlady and her relatives that he had been shamefully and brutally treated by the hospital officers, who, after telling him to wait in the office for over an hour, put him out and threatened to have him arrested for drunkenness.

When Dr. Brothers was called in, he found Deacon's symptoms more aggravated than the day before.

Miss Kate Lyle, a sister of the landlady, thereupon accompanied Deacon to the Chambers Street hospital.

There he was met by a doctor, who, after examining Deacon, recommended that he be taken to the hospital.

TAILORS' STRIKE STARTED.

Over a Thousand Men Quit Work at Brownsville.

Cutters Will Sue Former Employers for $20,000 Each.

There is a momentary lull of hostilities between the tailoring men and employers. Both sides are, however, vigorously preparing for an early renewal of the fight.

Lawyers Abraham and Herman Fromme are preparing complaints in the Supreme Court on behalf of the cutters against Frederick Horstman, H. S. Mendelson and Leo Kaufman, representing four of the Manufacturers' Association. Each cutter will sue for $20,000 damages. It is expected that these papers will be served tomorrow.

The warrants against the manufacturers for conspiracy, said Mr. Fromme this morning, will not be applied for until next week.

The manufacturers have provided bail in the case of the strikers.

A conference of representatives of trades unions at the office of the American Federation of Labor, last night, resulted in the decision to make a mass-meeting of workmen to be held at Cooper Union.

The meeting is to be held at Cooper Union, at 10 o'clock, to discuss the present status of the trouble and the means of settling the proposed new regulations of the Manufacturers' Association.

The strikers are determined to secure against the issuance of boycotting circulars by the cutters.

110-ROUND FIGHT TO A DRAW.

Bowen and Burke Break a Record in Their Glove Contest.

The Former Wanted to Finish—The Latter's Hands Both Broken.

NEW ORLEANS, April 7.—The Bowen-Burke fight was stopped in the 110th round by the referee, who decided it no contest. The purse will probably be divided. Bowen wanted to finish. Both of Burke's hands were broken.

This fight was for $2,000, of which $500 was to have gone to the loser. The contest was chiefly of local interest, drawing but few outsiders to New Orleans.

In the matter of length, the fight equals all previous records. It occupied nearly seven hours and a half.

The longest contest previous to this one was that of Feb. 27, 1890, at San Francisco, between Danny Neenan and Patsey Kerrigan. In this case a draw was declared after 100 rounds.

Indictments Against Brooklyn City Officials Sustained.

Refusal to Dismiss Except in the Case of Auditor Weber.

Judge Moore, of the Brooklyn Court of Sessions, this morning dismissed the indictments against City Auditor Anton Weber and sustained the indictments against all the other accused city and county officials.

The judge, in dismissing the indictments, said:

"I will say in regard to those so-called Cincinnatian cases that the indictments against Weber are dismissed on the ground that there was not a particle of evidence before the grand jury to sustain those indictments, not a single scintilla of evidence to sustain them."

"The motion to dismiss them has been granted."

"The motion to dismiss in all the other cases is denied. That is all I need say about this morning."

FOUND A SNORING CORPSE.

An Unpleasant Hour at the Happy Days Hotel.

Medical Students and an Acrobat Work a Resurrection.

There was a good deal of excitement in the Happy Days Hotel, at 45 Third avenue, for a few minutes after 4 o'clock, last night. The hotel is managed by Dr. John H. Weber, formerly proprietor of the Grand View Hotel, at Fort Hamilton, which was recently destroyed by fire.

Some queer customers tonight, the Happy Days. One of these is Henry Meyer, who is known as the porter of the place. He was the cause of the excitement this morning.

Frank Herbert, a young dancer and acrobat employed with Haddon, a haberdashery, entered the Happy Days in search of his room at 1:30 this morning.

While groping his way through the hall he smelled gas escaping from room No. 5, and pounded on the door for a few minutes in the hope of arousing the occupant to his danger.

Hearing no response Acrobat Herbert called for help, and a couple of medical students who had been discussing cholera and lock fast in another department came to the rescue.

A hasty consultation was held, at which one of the students recalled the recent sensational death of Miss Alice Cozzens in a Broadway hotel and suggested that perhaps the party was on the threshold of another similar mystery.

Herbert declared that if there was a tragedy to be disclosed there was no use wasting time or words about it, and then he put his shoulder to the door and entered it from its fastenings.

Proprietor Haddon gazed ruefully at the wreck for a moment and then let out a shout and called a half-naked body along with arms extended, on the floor beside the bed.

The body was that of a man, and the face had grown purple in its agony.

One of the medical students remarked that the man looked like a German count, but he had never heard of any named body along with arms extended, on the floor beside the bed.

Herbert ventured the opinion that the fellow had "struck" him early the day previous for a pass to the circus and a couple of weeks' board.

The student was too busy engaged in contemplation of a half-naked body of a man who he had left on a table in a room to venture any opinion as to the identity of the man.

When Proprietor Haddon had fully calculated his entire dissatisfaction in the damage done to the door by the acrobat's shoulder, he entered the room and peered into the man's face. One body was enough.
